Subject: Prosperity Mine

Colette Spagnuolo, Panel Manager
Canadian Environmental Assessment
Agency

I would like to submit my letter of disapproval for the Fish Lake mine project. There is no loss in leaving the gold in the ground. Future generations and situations may be that the gold can be extracted without so much destruction for the benefit of the people living there. Investments made to date are speculative and government mandates and taxation laws promote such activities. Opposition to the project and all the time and money spent to carry this message forward comes from the heart not the pocket book. Future generations will be thankful for clean water, land and air not another desecrated mine site.

The relatively short life span of the mine and the nature of the jobs are not good for family and community but create a camp culture that is unrealistic and can be unhealthy. These are not jobs I want for my family.

We have come to a crossroads and we need to recognize it is not business as usual. Our climate is chaotic, forests are suffering, water is frighteningly low and drought is inevitable. These are the issues I care about. I expect my future and my children's future to change but I am unwilling to continue to destroy the life giving natural world to prop up a failing economy. It will continue to fail until we reestablish a sustainable lifestyle.

Sincerely,
Patricia Chung
