Subject: Pacific NoerhWest LNG Project

I am writing this in support of the Pacific Northwest LNG project on BC's west coast.

I believe that Canada will be at a disadvantage if it does not take the necessary steps to get our oil and gas resources to global markets, particularly to the Pacific Rim. We have already hit many roadblocks for getting our resources into the United States so it is so important now to support efforts to move our oil and gas to Canada's coasts for distribution, and facilities such as the Pacific Northwest LNG project are essential for the export of LNG to overseas markets.

If we do not export natural gas in the form of LNG from Canada then there are many other countries in the world that will do so. By not approving this project we are not reducing carbon consumption we are merely exporting high paying jobs to other countries.

Many Canadians, such as I, work for Canadian companies who are dependent on this and similar LNG projects being approved in order for them to provide us with meaningful employment. Canadians work hard and pay into a tax system with the expectation that our government is helping us build a country of which we can be proud. This includes the protection of our environment but also of our economy and our ability to provide for our families.

Many Canadians stand to lose should the Pacific Northwest LNG project's environmental certificate not be approved. I hope you will consider the impact that rejecting the project will have on many Canadian families.

Sincerely,

Edgar Eliecer Rojas
