To whom it may concern:

I am opposed to this project on the basis of environmental grounds.

Fracking is not an environmentally sound practice. Cooling Ngas to become a liquid uses a lot of energy to draw the heat out of the gas. This surplus heat then will be distributed into the environment which is already warming enough without this added to it. If the Ngas is water cooled then that will heat the water in Howe Sound and that will have a very negative impact on a fragile and recovering eco system.

To be blunt... LNG is not a green energy source and operating an LNG plant in Howe Sound is a great risk to the surrounding environment.

Thank You
